

Multipeel®

Resealable on standard packaging machines without additional adaptation is made possible with our Multipeel® films. It makes no difference whether you use Multipeel®-Top to integrate the resealing in the top film or Multipeel® Base in the bottom film – you achieve the best functionality and absolute freshness in the opened package. Simple use and product quality that lasts longer make Multipeel® particularly consumer-friendly.

With the Multipeel®-Top system, the top film is equipped with the resealable property and sealed to the thermoforming bottom film. As a result, the package can be opened and resealed until it is completely empty.

Do you want to use the same bottom film for several products but different top films, and still want constant quality with resealables and of course at the lowest possible cost? No problem! With Multipeel® Base, the resealing property is part of the bottom film. You can freely choose the top film, and once again it is: open, close, open, close, until the product is actually used up.
